No License, No Business-- That Is Rule For Mokena

Three men soliciting business for a firm described as specializing in baby and children's photos were arrested and fined in Mokena last on charges of violating a village ordinance requiring solicitors to have a permit or license.

Each was fined $10 and paid $5 costs. Leader of the crew, Charles E. Lucas, 25, of 4867 W. Kenmore, Chicago was also fined $25 and assessed $5 costs for driving a car without an operator's license. He had a driver's license from Kentucky but it had expired.

The other two men fined were Raymond C. Harlan, 53, Castle hotel, and John F. Carter, 39, also of Chicago, 4826 Winthrop ave.

The three were arrested by Chief of Police James Smetana and taken before Justice of the Peace August Werner.

The trio was not holding, as they say, so were held in custody by Chief Smetana in the village hall until their principal could wire the money for the fines. Finally the message came, was translated into dollars, payment made and the solicitors released. They were cautioned that further solicitation for business without a permit or license would land them in trouble again.

Small Turn Out Marks County Registration Day

Registration day for voters, held in the precincts of Will county last Saturday saw 2,345 persons inscribe their names on the rolls. How many of these were duplications of previous registrations should be known by the end of the week.

At noon Monday workers in the office of County Clerk Joseph Hartley had found 24 as previously registered. At the clerk's office it was said the rent for polls and per diem fees for election judges would bring the cost to about $5.75 per registration as compared with $10 last year.

The county board had planned to skip registration day this year because of the cost but someone filed a petition for a writ of mandamus against the supervisors and they decided to go thru with a registration program.

Special registrars have been registering voters in all the townships in the intervals permitted since last spring. Persons also may register at the county clerk's office.

As a matter of fact persons not registered may still do so all this week.

In the county registration last Saturday the number signing up in the area was:

Frankfort twp.
Pct. 1-3; Pct. 2-23; Pct. 3-15; Pct. 4-12; Pct. 5-0 (none) for a total of 53.

New Lenox twp.
Pct. 1-32; Pct. 2-27; Pct. 3-28 Pct. 4-24 for a total of 111.

Homer twp.
Pct. 1-15; Pct. 2-24; Pct. 3-44; for a total of 83.

Green Garden has but one precinct and the registration there was 26.

To Get Blacktop

Maple road, which runs from Wolf road to Marley, will be ready for a coat of blacktop next year, according to the program of the county highway department.

The base course of rock and gravel was laid this spring and summer and while there are a few touches remaining before completion the road is in use.

Maple road has been widened and provides easy access to Marley from the Mokena area. Until the road was remade this year it was quite rough. It is now an all weather highway.

one polling place and the registration there was eight.

Persons who are not already registered or who have changed their names since previously registering should get on the voting rolls, it was pointed out. To be eligible to register one must be a citizen of the U. S. of 21 years of age or over; a resident of Illinois for a year; a resident of the county 90 days and the precinct 30 days.

Cut Off Extra Buses Serving Pupils At Lincoln-Way High

Effect of the defeat of the proposed increase in the transportation tax at Lincoln-Way high school was manifest this week when bus service was discontinued for pupils whose activities keep them after school hours. The action was taken on instructions from the board of education which met last Thursday to take stock of the situation.

Defeat of the proposed hike in the educational fund tax rate will show its effects more gradually it was said but it has been announced that the adult education night courses will be dropped after the second semester begins.

The board is determined to maintain its salary schedule for teachers in order to hold the school's high scholastic standing, it was declared, and to accomplish this is studying various means to cut expenditures. The board had asked an increase of 13 cents in the education fund tax rate, from 86 to 99 cents per $100.

The bus change became effective Tuesday of this week. There was no school Monday because of institute. When the buses leave the school now at 3:30 to distribute pupils to their home communities that is the end of the day so far as school transportation is concerned.

The district now levies a tax of two cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation to provide funds for transportation. It also gets aid from the state. The tax and the state aid still leaves about $13,000 a year to be taken from other funds to meet the cost of transportation. Lopping off those extra runs is expected to reduce the costs materially. The board had asked to increase the transportation tax from two cents to five cents.

The school has been dispatching two buses--one to New Lenox and Manhattan and the other to Mokena, Frankfort and Lincoln Estates--at 4:30 in the afternoon and then at 6 o'clock the same routes were followed by two more buses, carrying football and track team candidates.

The 4:30 buses carried an average of 150 students whose activities kept them at school after hours. A great many of these were girls in GAA athletic programs. Also there were many who remained after hours to participate in musical programs. Also included were students who stayed on to do extra work in science laboratories and attend various meetings of clubs formed to further their studies.

There are approximately 100 students who have been using the 6 o'clock buses.

Now transportation at these extra times will have to be furnished by the pupils or their parents it was pointed out. Whether there are enough pupils who are licensed drivers that have access to enough cars to form pools is something now under consideration by the students.

School officials point out that the enrollment probably will increase by about 150 next year, necessitating more teachers and how it is to meet this problem is another problem for the board to solve, it was pointed out.

The board was reluctant to cut the bus schedule and it dislikes the idea of discontinuing the adult education program in January, but it must cut expenses, it was stressed.

Because of increasing needs it is expected the board will call another election, probably in the spring, at which the tax increase will be brought before the voters again. In the meantime a citizens group is expected to be formed to make a study of the situation and come up with a recommendation.

The board again called attention to the fact that failure of the proper authorities to collect delinquent personal and real estate taxes has left a substantial amount of revenue due the high school district.

"When the Lincoln-Way high school district was organized," a school spokesman said, "One of the arguments in favor of it was that students would be able to participate in extra-curricular activities, something which was quite difficult for them to do when they attended Joliet high. Now we have practically the same situation here.

Has Chance At Coveted National Scholarship

Gene Cline, the son of the W.E. Cline, 120 Eastern ave., Manhattan, is one of 10,000 semifinalists in the national merit scholarship qualifying test, a test of educational development given in more than 15,000 high schools last spring. The semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories.

Each semifinalist now moves a step closer to winning a four-year merit scholarship to the college of his choice.

Gene is a senior at Lincoln-Way high school. His principal extra-curricular interest there is music. He is a participant in choral as well as instrumental music and if successful gaining one of the scholarships will choose one of the leading music schools in the country to continue his studies.

Gene is accompanist for the Joliet Park District Chorus, an organization that has appeared on many programs around the region. Recently the group sang over WGN radio.

There were 34,000 students in Illinois who participated in the qualifying test last spring and of that number 308 became semifinalists.

Supt. A. Hunter Chapman of Lincoln-Way, described Gene as an excellent student.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the annual program, stated that "Merit semifinalists represent the most promising brains in the nation. From this group of able, attractive students will come the scholars and intellectual leaders of tomorrow."

Grease Sign Standards To Trace Vandals

The Will county highway department is asking help of parents to preserve its markings along Francis road. The county has posted the highway at intervals with signs limiting speed in general on some curves, specifically.

It also has had curve signs and signs giving notice to truckers of load limits.

Supt. James McCarthy reports that several of these signs have been torn down--not once, but on several occasions.

He believes the parents can help if the new signs are pulled down because the standards have been thickly coated with grease and oil and should leave evidence on the hands or clothing of the vandals.

Replacement of the signs cost the county time and money, McCarthy pointed out.

Nature Walks Are Planned For Sunday

(CNS) Fall nature walks each half hour for groups of 25 will be conducted by Forest Preserve naturalists on Oct. 2, starting at 10 a.m., County Board President Dan Ryan announced this week.

The location will be the forest preserve district's two Nature Centers. The south side one is The Little Red Schoolhouse, situated on a hill overlooking Longjohn Slough on Willow Springs road one-half mile south of 95th street, in Palos preserves. The slough is now filled with hundreds of ducks and other waterfowl.

"At this time of the year there is an excellent chance to observe autumn wild flowers, the first stages of fall color, migrating birds, and various kinds of ripening fall fruits," said Charles G. Sauer, superintendent. "The plants, animals and geology of the local area will be explained in a fashion that the whole family will enjoy it."

Besides explaining the interesting things seen along the way, the naturalists will answer questions. Everyone is invited, and further information may be had by telephone from forest preserve headquarters, Columbus 1-8400, Sauer said.

Proceeds from the dance will be used to buy additional uniforms and instruments for the band.

Loose Gravel

Causes Crash;

Girl Injured

A 17-year-old New Lenox girl, Mary L. Hunter, of 323 Hickory st., was taken to Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, Monday night following a automobile accident.

Miss Hunter's car struck some loose gravel at Francis and Cedar road, according to the report of State Trooper William Hecht, and the vehicle skidded, striking a speed sign standard and a culvert.

The girl's injuries were not believed to be serious but she was taken to the hospital for an examination.

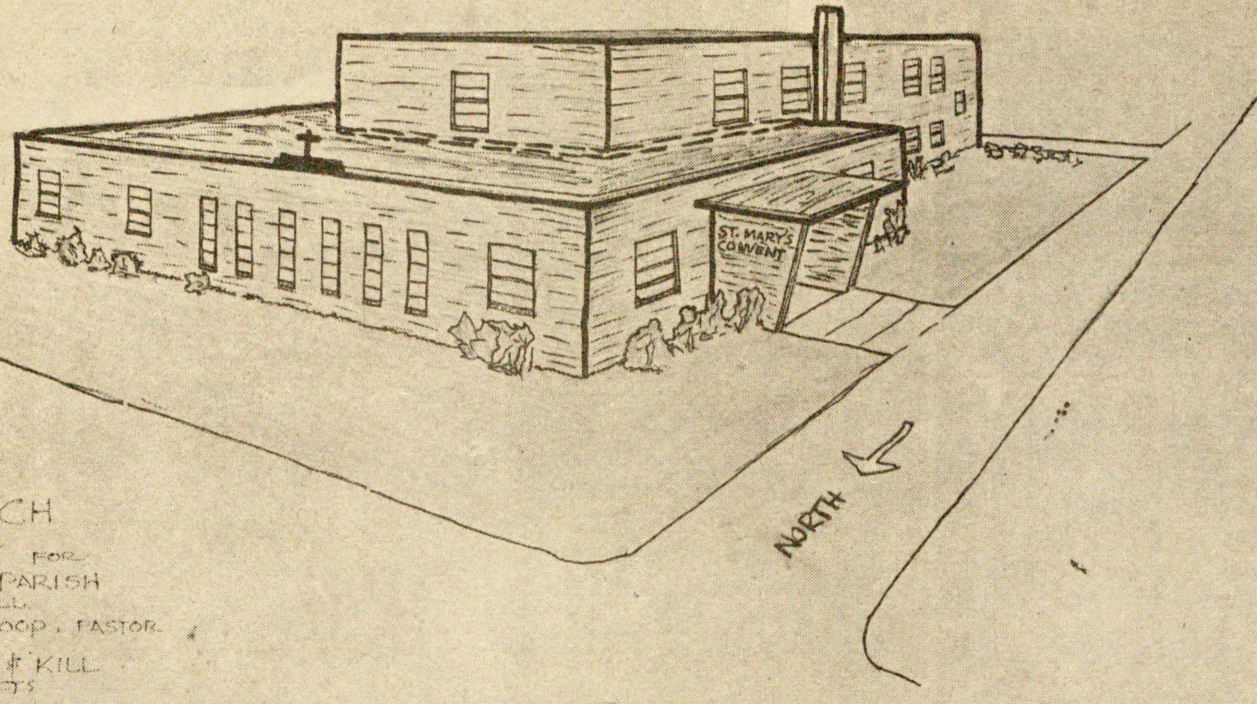

A MAJOR IMPROVEMENT at Mokena is this rebuilding of Front street between Wolf road and Mokena street. It looks like it might have been bombed in spots. Bulldozers and graders have been doing quite a job of gouging and leveling and when the job is complete Front street will be equipped with curb and gutter and wider than it was -- at least the paved portion will be wider. In the left foreground is the new postoffice but there is still considerable work to be done before it can be used. (R. Koning photo)

New Directory For Orland And Tinley Out This Week

More than 1,400 Orland Park and 2,700 Tinley Park families and businesses are listed in the new South Suburban Street Address Directory to be published Monday, Oct. 3.

The 1960 total of Orland Park telephone subscribers listed in the volume compares with 1,300 listings for the community a year ago. Tinley Park's total listings increased from 2,600 in 1959.

The directory, compiled by the Reuben H. Donnelly Corporation, Chicago, contains the names of more than 116,000 families and businesses listed in the order of their street addresses and covers a total of 51 principal communities south of Chicago. Telephone numbers appear with each listing.

L. W. Reich, Donnelly vice-president, said that the directory, like last year's volume, will carry no advertising and will be leased to users on an annual basis.

Would Launch Black Dirt Business On Huge Scale

If and when Cook county zoning authorities give approval, a new black dirt business on a large scale will be launched in Orland township and the final result could be a lake, with perhaps a subdivision attached. The zoning board has the proposal under advisement.

A hearing by the county zoning board of appeals was held in the Orland Park village hall the night of Sept. 21. Village Attorney Raymond Pieper, present at the direction of the village board, reported Monday night that the owners of the property, a 40-acre tract northwest of the village declared they had plans for using a portion of the parcel for homesites after completing their excavating.

George Tampier, or Orland Park, and Kenneth Goddard, a Chicago landscaper are the owners Pieper reported. They told the zoning board, Mr. Pieper said, that they planned to take out some 200,000 cubic yards of black dirt, humus and peat. They would use an hydraulic dredge for the purpose and when they had finished would have an excavation of some five acres in area and 20 feet deep at its deepest point.

This much earth, it was estimated, would require between 40,000 and 80,000 trucks to move it. The petitioners said they expected the digging would be finished in three years and that if during that time all of the dirt was hauled out of Orland over 143rd street the movement would add but five vehicles an hour to traffic load now carried by that thoroughfare. They claim that 143rd street now carries 1,200 vehicles an hour. The petitioners claimed, Mr.

Roy S. Lewin, Donnelly street address division manager, said that each of the 20 sections of the South Suburban book will be introduced by a map and street guide of the area covered in the section. The maps have been brought up to date at publication and contain all the new streets and subdivisions. Also included is a map of the entire area, covering approximately 195 square miles and showing Cicero Ave., Harlem Ave., and other main streets and crossroads.

The directory is used by business firms to prevent check cashing losses, cut office and delivery expense, trace and collect unpaid accounts, bring mailing lists up to date, find property owners, and check emergency news sources.

Included among the more than 200 types of users are newspapers, political organizations, contractors, retail merchants, real estate dealers, and police and fire stations.

Pieper said, there is a great shortage of black dirt in Cook county and this place near Orland Park is one of the few spots where apparently it abounds.

Trustee Lloyd Cowan, who has done a lot of excavating, grading and kindred work, took exception to this claim.

"It is not the black dirt that is scarce," he said, "but rather the permits for its removal on a large scale."

The tract in question is located 1,335 feet south of 143rd street and a quarter mile west of the Will-Cook County Line road.

Mayor W. R. Schussler, Jr., said he could see no great objection to the project, that even if the subdivision never materialized, another pond in the area would not matter too much.

Trustee Doogan said he wouldn't mind a pond or lake but if it was a hole instead of a pond there was always danger of persons using it for a dump. He wanted to see the plans for the project and how far they expected to go. Some 90% of the land involved is within the mile and a half radius of the village and objections by the village would carry great weight, it was pointed out.

The Orland Park village board did not take any action Monday night in favor of the dirt project nor against it but did ask Attorney Pieper to get in touch with counsel for the petitioners and ask for a map and plan. The village has 10 days to file objections.

The potential excavators say that a stream would keep the hole filled with water and a drainage ditch on the site would carry

Special Education Group Wins National Citation

A national citation as one of 50 outstanding Education in Action projects has been awarded to 16 school districts in Southwest Cook County, Illinois, according to Walter F. Fierke, Superintendent of Tinley Park Schools. Fierke is also chairman of the Executive Board of the Southwest Cook County Cooperative Association for Special Education, the organization honored by the award.

The citation was given for a cooperative program for education of the mentally handicapped in the first Education in Action competition sponsored by Better Homes and Gardens magazine, Des Moines Iowa. Operated in cooperation with the National Education Association and the National School Board Association, the contest is designed to encourage individuals and organizations to work with school officials in improving local educational facilities.

Of the several hundred entries, 50 "Outstanding" awards were given and 122 projects merited "Noteworthy" mention.

School Districts involved include: District 146, Tinley Park; District 160, Country Club Hills; District 144, Markham; District 145, Arbor Park; District 143, Midlothian; District 142, Forest Ridge; District 140, Kirby-McIntosh; District 138, Maue; District 135, Orland Park; District 128, Palos Heights; District 127 1/2, Chicago Ridge; District 127, Worth; District 126, Alsip; District 125, Atwood Heights; District 118, Palos Park; District 117, North Palos.

Officers of the Cooperative Association, in addition to Fierke, include: J. Lewis Winegarner, Superintendent of District 144, Markham, Secretary Stanley B. Singer, Director of Special Education.

As evidence of the vitality of the program, Fierke points out that several forward steps have been made since the April 1, 1960, account of progress was written. A class for the trainable mentally handicapped will begin in Tinley Park on Oct. 1; three speech correctionists have been employed; a class for the blind was initiated at the Worth schools in September, and a school social worker has been added to the staff to work with maladjusted young people of three of the school districts. "This is a new venture in cooperation between school districts. Since it began in February 1958, with the first classes started in September of that year, we believe there has been very measurable progress, and we regard this citation as a recognition of the cooperative spirit that prevades the 16 districts, and of the sincere and much appreciated cooperation of P.T.A.'s and other civic groups that have contributed materially to the progress that has been made in this short time," Fierke declares.

You'll find new models for '61—long-wheelbase 4-wheel drive units—and thoughtful refinements throughout the line. But the big news for '61 is nailed-down proof (based on owner reports) that Chevy's torsion-spring design is the best thing that's happened to trucks in decades!

With Chevy's independent front suspension and Sturdi-Bilt design, you cruise over trails where other trucks creep. You feel the difference in less wheel fight and vibration. You can see why drivers are happier, why loads are better protected and why the truck itself will stand up to thousands of miles of more work. That goes for any size Chevy, too—pickups, tilt cabs, tandems, all of them.

Education And Machines

Scarcely anyone will dispute this is a machine age. To what limits mechanization will be carried is a subject on which only the so-called science-fiction writers appear ready to attempt answers and such answers seem to center around more machines, each more fantastic than its predecessors. Business, commercial and industrial fields have been dominated by machines for many years and now it seems that our educational system is on the threshold of becoming mechanized.

An article carried in a recent issue of The Saturday Evening Post deals with what the author calls a "teaching machine." He goes on to explain that in a way this is a misnomer because it is not the machine that does the teaching but the program that the machine presents to the student.

There are several companies now reported to be making machines but the programs are lacking. Programs, it is explained, can be prepared by experts in chosen fields -- at great expense, or by teachers in the schools at considerably lesser costs.

Two schools in this area are using machine courses in languages -- Lincoln-Way high school of New Lenox and Carl Sandburg high of Orland Park and school officials say they are quite successful. Students learn faster, it is said, and slower pupils do not hold back those who progress more rapidly.

There are machines now being tried out in various centers of learning covering mathematics, logic, psychology, physics, chemistry and other subjects.

Some programs give students a choice of answers and the right one will also give them the next question. Some programs are prepared in steps, each leading into the next.

Some of the machines are inexpensive; some are quite costly.

Some of the textbook houses are preparing programs for use in machines as supplemental to their books.

Several years when educational courses were launched on television some of the teachers' organizations were alarmed that the use of TV in teaching might put teachers out of work. The population trend shows there is a time not too far distant when the supply of teachers will not keep up with school population and other methods of instruction will have to be used.

So far as is known TV courses have not reduced faculty rolls and it is not likely that teaching machines will have such an effect and new educational programs are about to be broadcast from giant planes in this serving wide area. Such methods, however, may enable teachers to handle more students effectively than they can now. And if we find ourselves facing a great shortage of teachers and machines would be a great help.

There is still much research to be done with teaching machines, educators say, and there are many in the educational world who are skeptical as to their effectiveness.

They say they are still experimental, which of course they are.

However, it is quite likely that teaching machines will be an accepted part of educational systems within the next few years.

It should be pointed out that the cost of the machines used in teaching languages in the area schools have been paid in part by the federal government as part of the national defense program. And a part of the cost can be applied on room furnishing and equipment that the schools would purchase anyhow.

The teacher's desk, however, look quite different. With all the dials, buttons, and gadgets it more resembles the cockpit in one of those big transcontinental flying jobs.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

To fin or not to fin--that seems to have been the question among automobile body designers this past year.

The 1961 models will be popping into public view pretty soon now and from some of the advance pictures this seems to be another year when you can't tell an auto without a scorecard.

Fins have disappeared where once they grew and have sprouted where once lines were straight.

But some of the fins have changed, flaring where they once tapered and tapering where they once flared. They look something like those sloping front sights on a rifle.

There is a new compact job coming out that has a hump in the back--next to the rear window, at least, that is what the picture looks like.

There was a time when designers strove to give individuality to a car. In those days one merely had to glance at a car and immediately identified it.

Today most of us say--"Now lets see, that looks like a...no, wait a minute, I believe that's a...oh, I don't know, wait until it stops and maybe we can see the name some place."

The only trouble with that is that some of the makers fool you. They have a name on the car alright but its the model not the make.

About the only ones who can call off the names of a car instantly anymore are police who make a study of the subject and small boys.

And now the number of small boys who can give instant identification of cars traveling at high speed is growing less as more of them are putting in their time in learning the shapes and outline of jets and missiles.

From reading advance notices of the 1961 cars one gathers they will still have four wheels, an engine, a steering wheel and a transmission but whether these are to be considered as extras is not divulged at this time.

And if we interpret some of the reading matter correctly the designers have decided to let the driver and passengers get up off the floor and ride on seats that permit them to look out. It is claimed that those in the front seats will be able to see over the hood, which should be appreciated by pedestrians. The way it has been the odds-makers have been posting very short prices indeed, on pedestrians.

Something new has been added to the "wagon" line--at least one maker is coming out with a sports wagon that, according to the pictures, looks something like a small bus.

-0-

Regardless of what is in them or on them we still will have three kinds of cars, those in the low price field, those in the medium price field and those in upper brackets with hot and cold running water, central heating and air conditioning, telephone and elevator service.

It is very easy to get a new car these days. Just step down to your favorite dealer and order one. He will be glad to oblige.

There is just one little thing, however. Money. For some reason or other the makers of automobiles while big hearted in many ways are not philanthropists.

Should you hear someone declaim, "Alas, poor Yorick..." you may be sure Yorick is not the name of an automobile maker.

If there were just some way one could use trading stamps, soap wrappers or mining stock for money new car sales would really zoom.

All the makers now have cars with plebian tastes in gasoline. They no longer demand that luxury, premium stuff. This puts the gas makers into the lettering business. All the additives are given letters and numbers so one needs another scorecard to tell the gasolines from the vitamins.

There is talk that some of the refineries are going to put some gasoline in their fuel mixtures again as they are running out of letters for the additives.

Most of the additives appear to work all right--at least they serve to operate a car engine. All but one combination, that is.

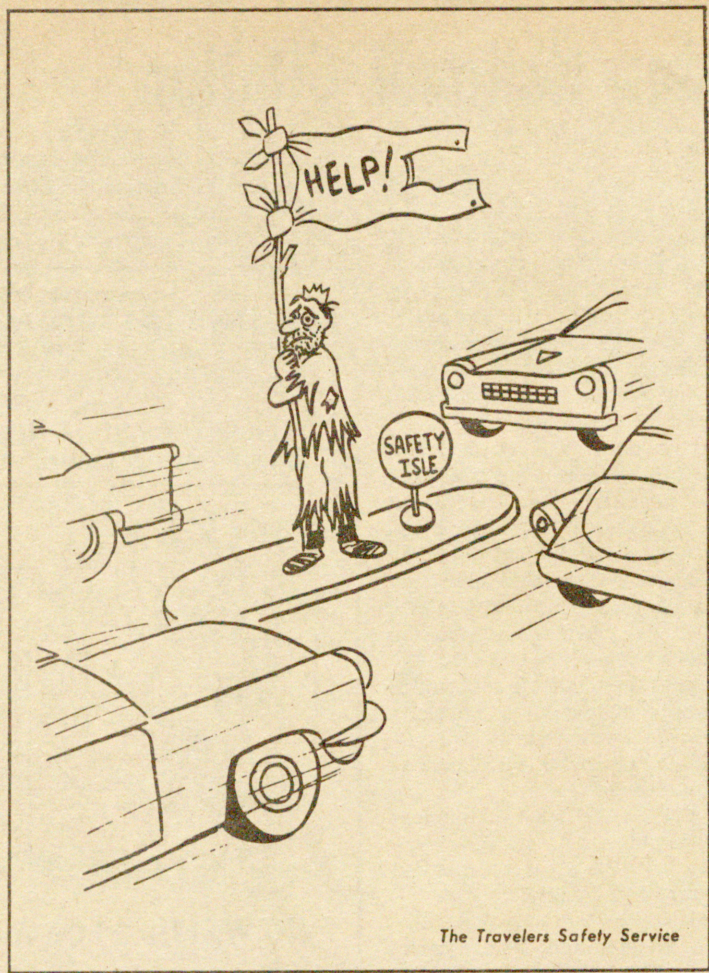

There is one combination of letters a motorist should avoid if he wishes to escape being stranded--MT. When that shows up in a tank it's just too bad.

Letters To The Editor

"TAX REVOLT"

Dear Sir:

Having voted YES to both propositions of the recent High School tax referendum, I cannot, presumably, be accused of prejudice when stating that the results of the voting neither surprised nor entirely disappointed me.

This second setback makes it evident that the high school board misjudged the significance of the first referendum last spring. The board apparently assumed this earlier defeat resulted primarily from lack of publicity. Now it is obvious the problem is far more complicated and serious.

The unselfish financial support provided by the voting citizens prior to 1960 would seem to indicate that parents desire, and are ordinarily willing to pay for, their children's education. Why have they now withdrawn this support?

Had this "tax revolt" been more fully appreciated for what it is, a different tactical approach might have been used. After all, a slice of bread is better than no loaf and a referendum restricted only to raising transportation funds might well have passed, especially if it had been widely publicized that a continuing deficit could not be tolerated and the alternative to a tax increase was parental responsibility for their children's transportation.

Moreover the publicity bulletin which stated that the tax increase would amount to $11 for the average home annoyed a great many people who heretofore assumed they owned average homes -- that is, until they calculated that their tax increases would be well over $11.

But these are minor items. Where do we go from here? I believe the school board should be guided by two assumptions: first, that deficit budgeting should not continue and second, that the "tax revolt" will be with us for a while. I believe one important element in the taxpayer's refusal to approve this referendum is his feeling that the School is not pinching pennies quite as hard as he himself is forced to do. Hence a determined economy drive not only would make inroads in the budget deficit but should improve considerably the temper of the public.

A case in point is the recent turmoil involving the Bloom high school athletic program. I have heard the comment made that it would be worthwhile to review the profit and loss statement of the Lincoln-Way athletic department. If Bloom's financial problems forced a drastic curtailment of their athletic commitments, perhaps Lincoln-Way could consider a similar move.

The 1960 Lincoln-Way school yearbook lists 36 faculty members and 30 percent of them are identified as being part-time members of the physical education department. To a "layman," this seems excessive. Some voters wonder how much of its deficit could be eliminated if Lincoln-Way were not committed to an athletic program dictated by school districts with much larger tax assessment valuations.

Voters may ask: why attempt to match the athletic programs of other schools, dollar for dollar, and then request money to increase teachers' salaries? Why not reduce the physical education staff, perhaps increase salaries and then ask taxpayers whether they wish to vote more money for athletics? Lincoln-Way has a large capital investment as well as considerable upkeep-replacement costs in such departments as home economics, arts and crafts, commerce, etc. Is there room for cost-cutting here? Have we lost sight of the tradition that the great teachers, inventors and scientists of the past century made their marks with limited facilities? Modern equipment is desirable -- when it can be afforded, but when the choice becomes one of equipment or top-notch teachers, most would choose the latter, I should think.

One hears, time and again, that a consolidated school district permits far more economical operation than our present system. If this be true, then let the school board take its case to the people who have, in effect, demanded economy. Take up their challenge and let us set out to gain a consolidated school district.

We were done no service by the state school inspector who dashed through the high school last spring and then submitted a report full of lavish praise despite budget deficits, underpaid teachers, and an undernourished liberal arts program. Perhaps the voters recalled this glowing report.

The 1960 yearbook lists only 40 percent of the faculty engaged in the full-time teaching of the three R's, history, science and languages. There was a time when these were considered to be what school was for. Incidentally they require relatively little capital equipment when compared to home economics, which the anti-tax mothers may now be willing to teach at home; or automobile driving instruction, which the anti-tax fathers could probably manage at home; or tractor repairs, which requires the school to purchase a tractor.

These may be small items compared to the major budget expenses such as teachers' salaries, bonds and interest, but they represent a place to start whittling and can demonstrate to the public a sincere interest in economy. Schools throughout the country presumably face the same financial problems. Has the school board fully explored the methods used elsewhere to maintain solvency and academic standards? Have the efforts to encourage tax-lucrative industrial development in this district been intelligently organized and promoted?

"When the problem of improving the caliber of teachers is continually discussed in terms of offering higher salaries, sooner or later this argument will fail to impress the taxpayer, while it increasingly stimulates the teacher's preoccupation with the subject. There can be little excuse for not offering salaries consistent with those in neighboring areas. However there should be other incentives available to take advantage of the idealism of good, young teachers and to encourage them to join the Lincoln-Way faculty. What are the steps which we as parents and you as school board members can take to encourage a continuing interest in teacher recruitment?"

We must accept and make peace with the fact that the taxpayer has said NO, perhaps with some justification. We must strive to communicate with him, regain his confidence and explore those areas in which he has constructive suggestions. We must consider that the public may feel and resent that its financial support of education is being taken for granted. And most importantly, we must explore more promising ways to evoke public interest and pride in its educational system.

We live in a tough, competitive and demanding world -- School should be equally tough, competitive and demanding. We do not really help our children when we offer them a life-adjustment, do-it-yourself education when the world of today and tomorrow offer dwindling opportunities for unskilled and white collar workers, for example; while the economic plums fall to the dedicated, "hard-nosed," conscientious student who can read with understanding and

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

New and faster business machines -- electronic computers, etc.--with better knowledge of business statistics, has made the economists job of anticipating the business cycle, very much easier.

However, predicting the business cycle to within a very few months is still very difficult. Better knowledge of the business cycles has, however, permitted banks and business men to anticipate events to some degree and thereby avoid violent ups and downs in business activity. The Federal Reserve has been more effective in its efforts to avoid unhealthy credit expansions.

World events can be predicted somewhat. Many authorities have been noting the situation in Africa will have considerable influence on conditions in the western countries. Democracies seldom can move very far ahead of popular opinion in their own countries regardless of the opinions and views of men who have closely watched a situation develop and know the impact of events at an early date. The dictatorships are not hampered by public opinion and can move quickly and quietly.

Russia and its satellites have been working and spending large amounts, in the preparation for independence of the new African states. The present activity and problems of the United Nations is probably only the beginning of considerable trouble in that important part of the world.

Regardless of who wins the election, international developments will have considerable influence on the action of our government and the general business picture. The cold war and its maneuvers, will be with us for a long time to come.

Some business writers have been pointing out that this country has been losing its gold stock to foreigners who have been converting dollars to gold. International investors usually prefer gold to any specific currency altho dollars were desired while the western world was getting on its feet after the war.

Now that conditions are more stable in certain parts of the world, money is again fluid and seeking the most profitable area for investment. We still have ample gold for normal banking and currency purposes.

Altho losing gold, our exports have been expanding and imports slowed. It is expected that the surplus of exports over imports will be about $4 billion.

The increase in Europe's prosperity has increased buying of American products.

The U.S. News summary of business reports that National Association of Purchasing Agents states that:

New orders picked up in August for 35 per cent of the firms do against a gain by 24 per cent in July. That higher production for August was reported by 26 per cent against 22 per cent in July. It also noted that price declines have been few.

The Financial World market section quotes a bank economist as saying, "the fourth quarter of this slightly tarnished golden year of 1960 will show slightly improved economy which should burgeon into an even better 1961."

The magazine goes on to state that altho it is hard to say that 1961 will be the boom year 1960 was supposed to have been there is no indication we are headed for a serious decline and that "market activity -- measured by almost any yardstick would seem to confirm this view."

discrimination, think with clarity and independence, speak with fluency and is more than superficially aware of his own national heritage and the uncertain, changing world about him. Only this kind of student graduates adequately armed for the future.

Moreover I believe the parents sense this and desire this for their children and perhaps will be more willing to offer their hard-earned tax dollars for this. And if it means a school which flaunts the provincial standards of the state education inspector, let us know and we will support you consistently and work with you energetically to change the rules -- but you must offer us direction and leadership."

CHRYSANTHEMUMS - FLOWERS OF MANY FACES - USES
By: James Fizzell, Assistant Farm Adviser

Chrysanthemums have long been the favorite fall flowers. With scientific advances in the growing of these flowers, the season has been lengthened until now these useful blooms are available fresh, every day of the year.

Chrysanthemums originally grew wild in Asia and were quite similar to our common daisy. The Japanese, through their skillful breeding, developed the flower to the point where it was many times as large as its wild ancestor, and it is now the national flower of Japan.

European visitors to Japan were fascinated by the large, showy flowers and carried plants back to Europe from whence they finally were imported to the U. S.

The Chrysanthemum has been bred extensively in this country, and most of the important commercial varieties are results of the work of the breeders.

Our own University of Illinois is one of the foremost developers of Chrysanthemums in the United States. Many varieties are introduced by the Floriculture Division of the College of Agriculture each year, each bearing the trademark, Illini somewhere in the name. Illini Snowdrift is a delicate little variety known a 11 over the United States and abroad as well.

There are many types of Chrysanthemums on the market, and at least one is suited for almost any use. The large "Football Mums" called "standards" in the trade, are used extensively in arrangements. Closely allied to the Football mums are other large disbud with decorative, informal shapes and the exotic spider-like Fuji Mums.

The small, spray type Chrysanthemum are called pompoms. These work well in small arrangements and are extensively used in corsages. It is the pompon which because of its long cut-flower life is used on New Years Day to cover the beautiful floats in the many parades throughout the Country.

Chrysanthemums are one of our best flower buys. The flowers are adapted to almost any use, and in addition, Chrysanthemums are the longest-lived of all our cut flowers. With proper care, a Chrysanthemum arrangement will last several weeks in the home.

Chrysanthemums are in good supply now at your neighborhood florist. Use flowers; they are the sign of a friendly, hospitable home.

READ EPHESIANS 2:1-10

Stephen said, "Behold, I see the heavens opened, and the Son of man standing on the right hand of God." (Acts 7:56)

Some Christians, like Stephen, have their eyes turned toward heaven. They draw spiritual power from the heavenly places in Christ Jesus. This clears the vision and gives the Christian his power to be a citizen of two kingdoms. He lives in the world by the help of the Unseen.

I have heard of a church in Stockholm that had no windows in the walls, but one big window in the ceiling. The following invitation to worship in this church appeared in a newspaper: "Come to the church with its window pointing toward heaven." It is a good thing that a church has its window turned toward heaven.

Each person in himself can be like a small church. The light and love and righteousness from heaven can stream down to you and me living on earth. Thus we can mirror something of the heavenly while living the earthly life.

PRAYER: God, we thank Thee that it is possible for us to turn to Thee for comfort, courage and spiritual power. Help us to mirror something of the heavenly glory in our earthly life, so that we can help advance Thy kingdom on earth. We pray in the name of our Saviour, Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:

The Christian church helps us to draw spiritual power from God almighty.

Wayside Workers To Plan Recipe Book At Meeting

MRS. ELIZABETH ANDERSON
Tel. TE 8-4846

The Wayside Workers Circle of King's Daughters will meet at Homer Church on Thursday, Oct. 6, at 1 o'clock with Mrs. Reed Burch and Mrs. Ira Anderson as hostesses. They will work on their recipe book projects besides the usual business meeting and Bible study.

Though parents smile at the impulsive life of young people, they also worry about the effectiveness of their own efforts to guide them into stable, mature adulthood. A trained priest with years of experience with young people will be present to guide the discussions. All parents of teenagers, or of children approaching the teen years are invited to attend.

BEAUTIFULLY BUILT TO TAKE CARE OF ITSELF

The 1961 Ford introduces a whole new concept of what a car can do for you... and for itself!

It lubricates itself. New nylon bearings and a newly developed lubricant keep the '61 Ford freshly greased for 30,000 miles. Good-bye grease racks! What's more, it cleans its own oil. The 1961 Ford's Full-Flow oil filter lets you go 4,000 miles between oil changes.

It adjusts its own brakes. A "mechanical brain" keeps brakes adjusted for the life of the lining.

Rust? Ford's body is specially processed to resist corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

Ford takes care of itself on the turnpike, too, with a new 390-cu. in. Thunderbird Special V-8 that has all the punch you'll ever need. The 352 Thunderbird Special V-8 and 292 Thunderbird V-8 thrive on regular gas. And, for top economy, you can choose the '61 Mileage Maker Six.

This is the 1961 Ford... beautifully proportioned to the Classic Ford Look... beautifully built to take care of itself.

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

LUBRICATES ITSELF. You'll normally go 30,000 miles without a chassis lubrication.

CLEANS ITS OWN OIL. You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes with Ford's Full-Flow oil filter.

ADJUSTS ITS OWN BRAKES. New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves automatically.

GUARDS ITS OWN MUFFLER. Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—normally will last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

PROTECTS ITS OWN BODY. All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing body panels beneath doors.

TAKES CARE OF ITS OWN FINISH. New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs wax.

CLARIFIER--FINAL CLARIFIER it really is, according to Everett Scherflow, resident engineer for Baxter & Woodman, designers of the New Lenox sanitary sewer system. The final clarifier is a part of the sewage treatment plant. After sewage is treated in the trickling-filter--a round tank equipped with big blades that keep stirring the liquid--it goes into the final purifier and later will find its way into Hickory creek. The Wigert Construction Co. is building the treatment plant. Concrete was poured for the clarifier late last week, after this picture was taken. (Marvin Smith photo)

Handicapped Americans Seek Your Aid

Thousands of fellow Americans throughout Illinois are holding out their hands for help to you - the voter.

They are the mentally and physically handicapped ranging in age from less than a year to 100 years, either in dangerously crowded institutions or on long waiting lists for admission.

Their appeal for help has been endorsed by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, the Illinois Association for Mental Health, and many periodicals.

To show the need to help those who cannot help themselves and the necessity to raise the standards of the state's 25 institutions, the Tinley Park Times and other newspapers of the Golden Triangle chain, will publish a series of case histories compiled by the staff of the Tinley Park State hospital, under the direction of Superintendent John L. Cutler, M.D.

At a general election to be held Nov. 8, a very important proposition on the ballot is the Public Welfare building bond issue. Passage of this proposition will mean additional facilities and rehabilitation of present facilities for these unfortunate.

About 50,000 patients in the 25 state residential institutions will receive better care, treatment, training, education and rehabilitation with the appropriation created by an Act of the 71st General Assembly, House Bill 1278, approved by Governor William G. Stratton on July 22, 1959.

The state bond issue acts to appear on the November ballot, like previous bond issue acts in Illinois, direct the levy of a state property tax only if the General Assembly fails to provide sufficient revenues from other sources to meet the payments on the bonds as they fall due.

Although similar provisions have appeared in previous bond issue acts, no property tax for this purpose has been levied since 1933.

In only two instances has a state property tax been used to pay off bonds: The waterway bond issue, authorized by a constitutional amendment in 1908 and the World War I veterans bonus bond issue, approved by the voters in 1918.

According to official notices concerning the bond issue, if sufficient money is transferred from the general revenue fund to the bond fund, "no tax levy will be necessary and none will be made."

The responsibility of the issuance, sale and retirement of the bonds will be in the hands of the building bond board, consisting of the Governor, the state treasurer and the attorney general.

The bonds will be paid off in 25 years at an interest rate not to exceed 4 per cent.

A majority of total votes cast for members of the General Assembly in the 1960 general election will be necessary in order to pass the bond issue.

When a voter casts a ballot for members of the General Assembly and fails to vote on the bond issue, it is the same as casting a negative vote on the bond issue. In 1958, 472,023 voters casting ballots for members of the General Assembly failed to vote on the bond issue.

The issue will appear either on a separate white ballot or if machines are used, will appear thereon.

REVOKES LICENSE

Harold C. Smith, who lives at 266 East Front street, Mokena, has had his driver's license revoked.

James R. Mc Innerney, 328 Francis road, New Lenox, had his license suspended because of three violations, according to the report from Secretary of State, Charles F. Carpentier office.

Among changes in methods of beef production predicted by an Oklahoma cattle expert are a rise in cattle numbers, more performance testing and growing consumer demand for red meat.

An Ohio agricultural engineer predicts that tomorrow's farmstead will resemble a plant or factory, designed to produce one type of livestock or livestock product.

Just like fertilizer or feed, farm buildings, fences, equipment and roads contribute to profitable production. Improved farmsteads can lead to higher incomes.

The estimated annual costs for tractors and harvesting equipment average about 18 percent of the purchase price; for tillage equipment, about 16 percent; and for seeding and planting equipment, about 14 percent.

Need Volunteers To Complete 4-H Field Buildings

A group of volunteers who have been contributing time and talents to the improvement of the Fred A. Francis 4-H field, near New Lenox, are seeking more volunteers to do the same.

There is still considerable work to be done on the exhibition barns--roofing and painting to be specific and persons who are willing to help are asked to turn out today.

Those in charge plan on starting work at 9 a.m. today (Sept. 29) and persons who can give an hour, or more-or less, to furthering the program are asked to come to the 4-H field, which is on Francis road, about half a mile from Cedar road. Volunteers are asked to bring a hammer or a paint brush.

Lights have been obtained so there will be night roofing and painting. Crews expect to work until 9 o'clock tonight.

Further information may be obtained by calling Glenn Vally at the Mokena office of the New Lenox Lumber Co., Mokena 3241.

The state of Arizona has voted for the winner in every presidential election since its admission into the union in 1912.

L-W Blanks Mustangs In League Opener

Lincoln-Way varsity football team will be seeking its third victory tomorrow in as many starts when it meets Reavis on the latter's field.

The Knights of Lincoln-Way, which were lightly regarded when the current season began because of past performances, have caused rival elevens to do double-takes. The Knights have played two games, blanking their opponents in each with impressive scores.

They opened the season with a 52-0 win over Lemont and last Saturday dusted off Evergreen Park in the first conference tilt for both schools, 29-0.

So any schools who figure the Knights a soft touch this season will do well to revise their thinking.

In its game last Saturday the Lincoln-Way varsity ripped the Mustangs line apart at will. The Knights racked up 332 yards on the grounds and that is respectable yardage in any league. And on defense they held their visitors to 82 yards by rushing.

The Knights scored in every period but the last one. They had a 7-0 count at the close of the first quarter and led 22 to 0 at the half. Their final seven points were scored in the third frame.

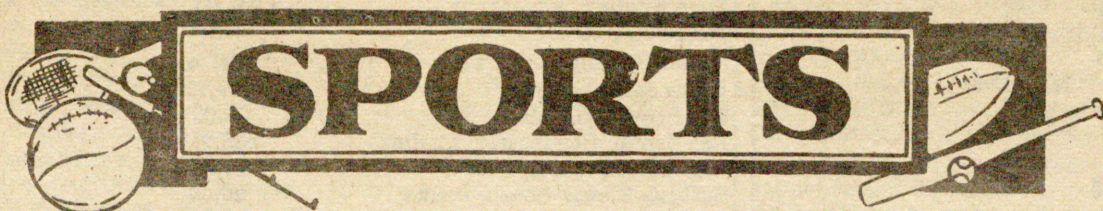

Lincoln-Way made its first touchdown the hard way moving the ball 94 yards. They did take a couple of short cuts in the process, shaking loose for a couple of 20-yard gains. It was Ron Miller who went over for the TD from the one-yard line and Wayne Luaffer ran the ball over for the extra point.

Dan Fenn, who piled up 19 points in the Lemont game, scored two touchdowns against the Mustangs and ran the ball over once for an extra point.

Lincoln-Way played another heads-up game. They were alert and in the second period Jim Miller recovered a fumble which gave the Knights the ball on the Mustangs' 39. Skip Kruzich, the pilot flipped two passes, one to Luaffer and one to Fenn and the Lincoln-Way had another counter.

The Knights had twice as many first downs as Evergreen Park, 14 to 7. Each team attempted seven passes. Lincoln-Way completed two for a total of 40 yards; the Mustangs connected on three but only for 19 yards. Two of the Knights passes were intercepted; Evergreen Park had three that fell into wrong hands.

Actor Mischa Auer was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, now known as Leningrad.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Wanna Buy A Horse?

J. P. Morgan once said that if a person had to inquire the price of a yacht he couldn't afford to own one. To some extent, the same is becoming true of the race horse. At the recent summer yearling sales owners paid an average of $11,500.00 for yearlings, and at some tracks, claiming prices range as high as $20,000. When a horse is claimed he is at least in training and may earn something for his new owners. With the yearling the price paid is only the beginning. He must be sent to an equine kindergarten to be trained and, unless the owner has his own farm, boarded, because stall space at the race track is limited to horses ready to run. This year's yearling will not be ready to race until January 1. The board bill and training expense will run about $400 a month, plus shipping costs, veterinary expense, insurance, equipment, etc. Size, temperament, bucked shins, coughing, and the accidents to which all children are prone are apt to delay the day when the young racer starts earning his keep.

Making it all worth while is a total of some $84 million in purses put up by the tracks, and the thrill of standing in the winner's circle with your horse. Of course, there's a bit of competition; the crop of 1959, the 2-year-olds of 1961, numbered over 12,000.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

The work of getting children to school and home again safely is one of the primary problems that arrive with early Fall, the peak time of accidents to school children.

The problem of the safety of school children is shared among many people; with the main solution in the hands of the parents. For it is their obligation to teach children the rules of safe conduct on the street. This must be done by more than lip service, it must be taught through example. Don't expect a child to obey traffic laws they have seen you violate. Teach them the importance of the rule—'Stop, Look, and Listen' at street corners and railroad crossings.

Each motorist has certain basic obligations to children: he should keep his car in top condition so it will react immediately in case of an emergency. He should always be alert for children to appear unexpectedly, or to do the unexpected thing.

It's the driver's responsibility to see that no child is hurt in traffic. Be sure you are driving slowly enough to stop in time to save a life.

A copy of the completely new 'Rules of the Road' booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

Sandburg's Line Is Key To Victory

The Bremen Braves bowed to a strong Sandburg eleven, the final score 13-0, in the first conference football game of the season held last Saturday at Midlothian.

The Eagles experienced line and senior backfield was too much for the Braves who fought gamely to the bitter end.

Neither team pierced beyond the 50-yard marker during the first quarter. Andy Sciana of Bremen and Ronald Cernick of Sandburg carried the brunt of the attack.

Bud Swayne, Sandburg half-back, broke thru Bremen's line on the first play in the second quarter and raced 45 yards for the first touchdown. The place kick for the extra point was blocked.

Midway in the third Jim Jeffries of Sandburg swivel hipped thru the Bremen defense and sped down the middle 35 yards for the second score.

Cernick plunged over from the two-yard line for the conversion and Sandburg led 13-0.

Bremen went to the air; a pass from John Mannion to Phil Tunstall netted 40 yards, but Sandburg held on the eight-yard line. The Eagles were unable to advance and punted.

James Casey of the Braves received on the 50-yard stripe and carried to the 30 after a fine display of fancy broken-field running. Bremen's final threat ended when Mannion's pass was intercepted on Sandburg's 20.

Braves Casey and Sciana were the offensive stars for Bremen. Sciana chalked up yardage thru the line, while Casey made several fine runs around end.

Bremen faces Homewood-Flossmoore at Homewood Saturday Oct. 1. Game time is 2 p.m.

Carl Sandburg and Rich will tangle at Orland Park on Saturday, at 2 p.m.

Explains Wheat
Exemption Quota

Roy Smith of the Will County A S C Committee reminded Will County farmers today of the feed wheat exemption provisions of the 1961 wheat marketing quota regulations. Legislation enacted some-time ago permits farmers whose wheat allotments are less than 30 acres to grow up to 30 acres of wheat without penalty provided all of it is used for feed, seed or human consumption on the farm where produced. None of the wheat can be sold, bartered, or exchanged. All livestock or poultry fed must be owned by the producer and it will not be permissible to remove any of the wheat to another farm for this purpose.

Any producer interested in growing up to 30 acres of wheat for 1961 under the feed wheat exemption provision should contact the county ASC office at 1256 W. Jefferson street, Joliet, prior to seedling time, for further information. The closing date for filing an application for feed wheat exemption will be fifteen days after the mailing to the farm operator the first notification of excess wheat acreage on Form CSS-590.

No Additional Sign Up For Soil Bank This Fall

There will be no sign up this fall of additional land or contracts under the soil bank conservation reserve Roy M. Smith, chairman, Will County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today in response to inquiries from farmers regarding the status of the program.

Mr. Smith also said that program contracts which expire in 1960 or later are no longer eligible to be extended for an additional period of years.

"Under the Soil Bank Act enacted in May of 1956" Mr. Smith explained, "the Secretary of Agriculture was authorized to enter into conservation reserve contracts with producers during the five year period 1956-60."

"The sign up under the 1960 program was held last fall, so that farmers would know in advance of the cropping season whether their land would be accepted into the conservation reserve. Since the authorization to enter into new contracts has not been extended beyond 1960, there will be no sign-up period this fall."

Farmers should understand, however, that the existing contracts for 1960 and previous years will remain in effect and payments will continue to be made under them for the period of the contracts and in accordance with contract terms. The annual department of Agriculture appropriation bills provide money with which to meet obligations already on the books.

There are 57 conservation reserve contracts in effect this year in Will County, involving a total acreage of 4492.4 acres, Mr. Smith said. Contract periods range from three to ten years, and annual rental payments for 1960 amount to approximately $77,139.00.

Nationally, there are more than 300,000 conservation reserve contracts in effect in 1960, covering a total acreage of approximately 28.6 million acres in 48 states.

The average rental payment is $11.85 per acre, and the rental payments for 1960 will amount to about $338 million.

Why be a
"Lugger-Outer?"

end trash and garbage nuisance forever—with a GAS Incinerator!

There's no need for outdoor trips to messy garbage cans... no need to save smelly garbage. A Gas Incinerator installed in your basement or utility room will banish this loathsome chore forever.

It's the modern, convenient sanitary way to dispose of both garbage and trash. Automatically, the magic flame takes over, consumes everything burnable—even bones, old shoes, rags, refuse—with hardly a wisp of smoke or trace of odor.

FBI Statistics

Metropolitan Area Crime Rate Lower

(CNS) The Chicago Metropolitan area, including Cook, DuPage Kane, Lake, McHenry, and Will counties, ranked relatively well with other large cities in 1959 crime figures released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation last week.

In the first per capita compilation, based on 1958 census estimates, marking a partial change in FBI policy against comparing cities on a population basis, the Chicago area was about in the center of all metropolitan areas, and behind all equally populous ones in crime incidence.

With 6,172,127 estimated population, the Chicago area had 72,721 offenses, equivalent to 1,178.2 per 100,000 inhabitants.

The breakdown between crimes was: murder and non-negligent manslaughter, 375 offenses or 6.1 per 100,000; forcible rape, 676, or 11.5; robberies, 9,059, or 146.8; aggravated assaults, 5,183 or 84.0; burglaries, 22,214, or 363.1; larcenies over $50, 14,646, or 237.3; and auto thefts, 20,335 or 329.5.

Arrest Girls On Charge Of Shoplifting

Hearing on charges against two Lincoln Estate teenagers arrested by Joliet police Sept. 17 in conjunction with an alleged shoplifting case is scheduled to come before Police Magistrate Martin Jackson on Saturday, Oct. 1.

Both are at liberty, Judith Broillette, 19 on bond, and a 16 year old girl released to the custody of her parents. This action was taken in regard because she is under 17.

Warrants against the two girls were obtained by officials of four Joliet stores.

Merchandise taken from all four establishments was found on the pair, according to Police Lieut. Donald Bee. Total value of the items was placed at $104.90 according to the police report. The list included two skirts from Sears-Roebuck; a two piece suit from Block and Kuhl; three dresses and a purse from the Boston Store and a skirt and dress from the Darling Shop.

The pair was arrested by Joliet police after they had left Sears store Saturday night. An assistant manager there noticed them leave without the formality of paying for or charging some merchandise, the report states, and called police.

At the police station, before she was released to her father, the younger girl suffered an asthmatic attack. The fire department sent an inhalator squad to the station and a few minutes later the girl was taken to St. Joseph's hospital for emergency treatment. Later she went home.
